

Sensory & Communication Assessments, Training & Support @ The Haringey Hub

The HAIL hub has a range of sensory and communication resources that can be accessed by individuals, local professionals and families.

Sensory and communication needs are all individual please turn over to see some of the areas that HAIL can support you:

HAIL

LIVING . LEARNING . WORKING . LOVING

If you would like to know more about our sensory and communication service contact HAIL on:

Tel: 0208 275 655

Email: admin@hailtd.org

Sensory assessments: We have onsite staff who are experienced in assessment and can assess adults and children.

An introduction to sensory support: The HAIL hub does not have a sensory room but has a full range of equipment and resources which can be used to teach professionals, carers and individuals on how to support people with sensory needs. Trainers have a Snoezelen training background and are experienced in working with adults and children.

Training for staff teams: Many people (but not all) with Autism would benefit from sensory support from the professionals around them. We can explain the difference between sensory seeking and sensory avoiding behaviours. We can teach people how to use equipment effectively and conduct basic sensory assessments. All of our training packages are economical and can be adapted for the organisation.

Communication support: HAIL have arrange of communication tools such as I-Pads and Grid software. We can work with individuals, families and professionals to test out communication systems. HAIL can provide training in how to communicate and how to support people to communicate.